Community Visioning Workshop Scheduled for Complete Streets Plan Input Needed to Help Guide Beverly Hills Streets Into the Future

The City of Beverly Hills is hosting a community visioning workshop on March 12 to help plan for our future streets. The Beverly Hills Complete Streets Plan will be a guiding document that aims to balance the needs of all users—those walking, biking, taking transit and driving—to address mobility for everyone throughout the City.

The Complete Streets Plan workshop will take place on Mon., March 12, 2018, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Municipal Gallery at City Hall (located at 455 N. Rexford Drive). Complimentary parking is provided in the Rexford Structure (next to the Library). Refreshments will be served.

Beverly Hills residents and community members are encouraged to come learn about Complete Streets concepts and to provide direction on what goals and values should guide the Plan. The workshop will include a variety of interactive stations, table top exercises and visual presentations. Please provide your input to help plan for the future of Beverly Hills!

Throughout the Complete Streets Plan development process, the City will host several community workshops, outreach events and collect input via the Complete Streets website. Please visit www.beverlyhills.org/completestreets to submit feedback and to sign up for emails to stay informed on project progress and upcoming events.

For questions about the workshop, please contact Transportation Planning at transportation@beverlyhills.org or (310) 285-1128.
